Springfield College

IN THE SERVICE

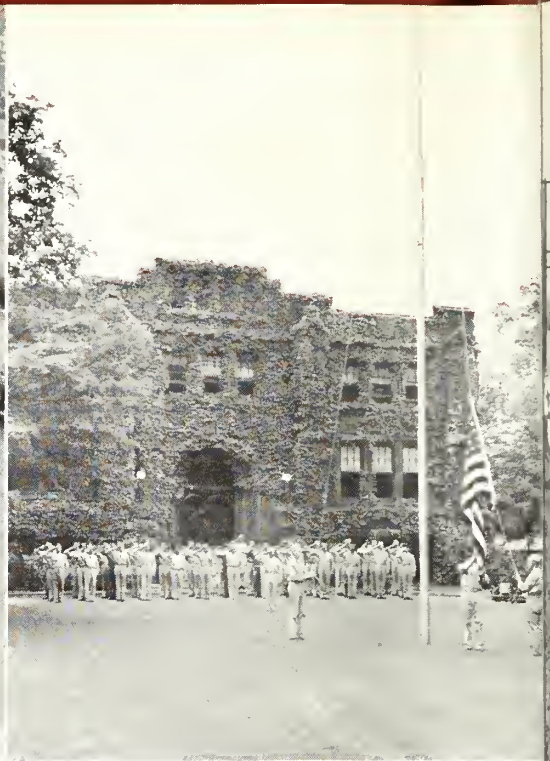

OF OUR COUNTRY

To Springfield men in the service,

who though few in number, typify in spirit and in body the best which America has produced, who are now providing the armed forces of their nation with effective leadership, and who will in the Peace to Come, translate the Christian ideals of Springfield College into terms of enlightened leadership for the youth of the World — we dedicate the 1943 Massasoit — confident that they will be truthful representatives of the ideals for which their Alma Mater courageously stands.

We Gave our Blood

Army Housed on Campus

foreword

We present to you the 1943 Massasoit. It is smaller than its peacetime counterparts — rationing and a reduced budget have accounted for that. Yet, by means of words and pictures we have tried to present an accurate description of the college in wartime. The scenes on this page in particular, show some of the ways in which this institution has contributed to the war effort. The very nature of the book itself with its lack of freshman and spring sports and its minimum of candid and pictures is representative of the restrictions and the sacrifices that were necessary at this time.

It is our sincere hope that this book will not only help you to remember Springfield College as it was during the war years of 1942-43, but that it will also serve to perpetuate in your minds the Springfield concept of the ideal society — one in which the Spirit, Mind, and Body of all individuals are developed to the utmost. With this ideal constantly glowing within you, go forth to meet the shadowy future with courage and an irresistible determination to see this dream fulfilled.

Class of 1943

We will all agree that there was nothing spectacular about our arrival at Springfield College. We weren't whisked in on the wings of a hurricane as were our windy predecessors, the Class of '42; we just gathered here on Wednesday, September 20, 1939, 180 strong to make the history we are now reviewing.

The fact that we were a good class was well-established in our minds despite Dr. Arsenian's report that freshman tests indicated a 1.27% inferiority to the Class of '42. Still, we couldn't help feeling superior to the sophomores—but, we learned.

What a thrill was in store as we started attending our first college classes! Beginning with Introduction to Education, the circles, syllogisms, major and minor premises all kept us pretty well-occupied and also quite adequately confused as we looked at circles A and B in an effort to find out what was wrong with C. Our old buddy the everlastingly-elusive amoeba provided us with endless hours of entertainment in the Biology lab.

A few of the outstanding highlights of our first year in Springfield are called to mind as we remember the Hazing Week which was closely followed by a juicy reception in West Gym. The Class of '43 chalked up a moral victory in the Cane Rush when a lone sophomore appeared on the field of battle on the date first set for the affair. Shortly thereafter we departed for various sections of the country as Christmas recess rolled around.

We returned to the old routine with a desire for more social activity, and the class sponsored its first dance early in February. By this time the majority of the fellows had managed to make the acquaintance of some of the girls in the community. The class developed very fine relationships with the girls from Mt. Holyoke; in fact, at times it appeared as though the class had moved its headquarters to the campus just up the river.

With the coming of Spring, rivalry between the classes rose to a high point. We shall long remember the struggle over the publication of the Freshman Student, and the abduction of Fred Eyster, Sophomore president on the eve of his class banquet. Soon afterward we witnessed our first Stepping Up Day exercises, and thus marked the end of the first chapter in our college career.

About 110 men returned for the start of a brilliant Sophomore year. We had a taste of specialized training as we branched into the separate divisions. The various opportunities available to upperclassmen were now ours to accept. Socially, we startled the campus with a most unique and original college dance which we called, advisedly, "The Horrible Hop". Only the Class of '43 could have staged such a tussle and made it the talk of the season.

Varsity athletic teams found Sophomore candidates a valuable addition to their squad lists. Some of the most successful athletes from our class during this year were Rog Burton, Ray Maleska, Bill Booth, George Geary, Dave Dockham, Cliff Seaver, and Irv Schmid.

I need not dwell on our success in keeping in tow a boisterous class of Freshmen. We accomplished our purposes and commanded the respect of the class as well.

Another Springtime, our second Stepping-Up exercises, and we suddenly realized that we had become Juniors. The bright skies of our second summer vacation from Springfield College were darkened by the clouds of an approaching chaos. Classes opened in the fall of 1941, but an air of seriousness and resolution to duty prevailed throughout the student body. We noticed the absence of many of our former associates, both classmates and faculty members, who had answered the call to service.

After Christmas 1941, talk of curriculum acceleration materialized into an organized summer term of study. In the face of many uncertainties, the Class of '43 maintained its position of social leadership and class spirit. Many favorable comments were received on the splendid work of a well-organized College Annual, a clever sports calendar, an unusual song-book, and an outstanding Junior Prom. Ed Psych was a memory, and we were attending classes on warm June days.

In January 1943, we were initiated into the last of the three semesters in our Senior year. While our numerical strength has diminished considerably since that September day in 1939 when our class was first brought together, our spirit is as strong as ever, and that in itself is sufficient to keep the Class of 1943 in Springfield's Hall of Fame.

History

In spite of the fact that '44 has lost many of its good leaders and organizers to the armed services, the resources and the dependability of our class has been proven by the not-unfounded optimism with which it has faced the responsibilities of the most important social year of our college careers. The Junior Prom and the Massasoit are both undertakings which make necessary many and varied lesser enterprises in order to build a treasury strong enough to support them.

Art Christ and a good committee started the year off right by promoting the most successful Fall Homecoming Dance in recent years. To continue on the right path, Len Conner et al got the college calendar on sale before the Christmas holidays. This early publication helped sales immensely, and the money went to swell Prom funds.

Juniors

The Junior Prom!! Sharing the title with the Massasoit as the most important of our responsibilities this year, the Prom presented problem after problem to chairman Amby Burfoot and crew. Blocked by war-produced priorities and uncertainties, the term "Go Ahead" was an unknown quantity to this committee. Nevertheless, tentative plans were made, and at this writing the time and place for the affair are February 19 at the Hotel Kimball.

Bob Smith and Dana Clark, co-editors of the year book, worked fast. The school year had hardly begun when several committee meetings had been called to lay plans for speeding up the Massasoit publication so that the seniors being graduated in March would be able to have them. Priorities, lack of time, red tape and other problems again thwarted many good intentions, but by the Yuletide vacation, contracts were signed and much of the material collected and organized.

The execution of the social obligations of the junior class did not by any means over-shadow the athletic endeavors of our third-year men. Men of '44 have displayed their athletic prowess in both varsity and inter-class sports. In fact, three juniors were honored as choices for various Little All-America football teams. Tracy Tripp, Emil Taavitsainen and Al Coty were the honored ones. Other varsity teams also had a generous share of juniors.

The future of our class depends upon the government of the U.S.A., as all but five of our men are enlisted in the reserve corps of the armed services. At present it appears improbable that the class of 1944 as such will ever graduate from Springfield College. Undoubtedly some of our members will return when peace comes and then will graduate with some other class.

Most of us have enjoyed our shortened stay here and hope that we have contributed in some way to the rich traditions of Springfield College. Whatever the future holds in store for us, may we always remember the many fine things we have learned here and may we strive to uphold the ideals for which this college stands.

Freshmen

History

"You men have chosen the hard way. Despite the attraction of lucrative wages in war industry and faced with uncertainty as to how long you'll be able to stay in school, you have remained calm and have chosen to begin your collegiate life." Thus spoke Dr. Harold Seashore as he greeted the class of 1946 at the opening session of Freshman Days in late September. Many members of this new class were already well-acquainted with Springfield College by that time, some having arrived early in the summer for work and others coming for the September extra session.

Adding to all this uncertainty, members of the class had the distinction of being the first freshmen allowed to participate in varsity athletics. The football, soccer, and cross country squads were dotted with first-year men who in no small way aided the performance of these teams. As this is written, winter sports also apparently will be enhanced by freshman material.

Besides the natural bewilderment of the first few days of college life, the frosh had to cope with the diabolic schemes of the sophomores during hazing week. Although the rope pull ended in their defeat, the class of 1946, fast-becoming acquainted with Springfield traditions, held their own in laking parties and in interclass sports competition.

Showing their social inclinations, the class sponsored the first social event of the winter term, a Snow-Ball held on January 16. They also made plans for other social affairs, including a tea dance in the foyer and a Co-ed Sports' Day.

Officers elected early in the winter term were Kinley Shogren, President; Mason Ellison, Vice-President; Robert Brocklesby, Secretary; and Charles Stone, Treasurer.

ROBERT SMITH DANA CLARK
Editors-in-Chief

Our sincere thanks to the following for their guidance and invaluable help in making this book possible: our Junior classmates, the Class of 1944; Ray Winans of the college Press Bureau; John Pond and Charles Rutenber of the Social Activities Board; Arthur Wright and the Bosworth Studios; Jack Brown and the Hammersmith-Kortmeyer Co., who did the printing, engraving, and binding of the book; and to all members of the faculty and student body who cooperated so wonderfully.

The Staff

OUR ORGANIZATIONS

Sitting—Brown, Sheehan, Emery, Monesko, and Dr. Thompson.

Standing — Christman, Havel, Tripp, Thompson, Burgess, Maynes, Robertson, and McEwen.

Student Council

The Student Council is of utmost significance, especially in these times, in coordinating the faculty, the students and the administration, and in the general problem of campus government. Working in cooperation with the Athletic Board and the Social Activities Board, the council tries to administrate with fairness and expediency, the regulation of campus activities.

Because of lack of funds this year, the "Student" had to resort to biweekly publication. Nevertheless, under the leadership of Jerry Zornow, Scott Maynes and Bob Smith, the paper continued to be popular on campus. Featured in each issue were Havel's sport column, Tid-Bits, the War Path and an interesting variety of news and advertising.

First Row — Andrews, Church, and Anderson.

Second Row — Foster, Smith, Zornow, Maynes, Keegan, and Lougee.

Third Row—Stetler, Novak, Oates, Stone, Wilbur, Owens, Bedini, Amott, Olson, Boyd, Congdon, and Tompkins.

Springfield Student

First Row — Sturges, Townsend, Bratton, and Eaton.

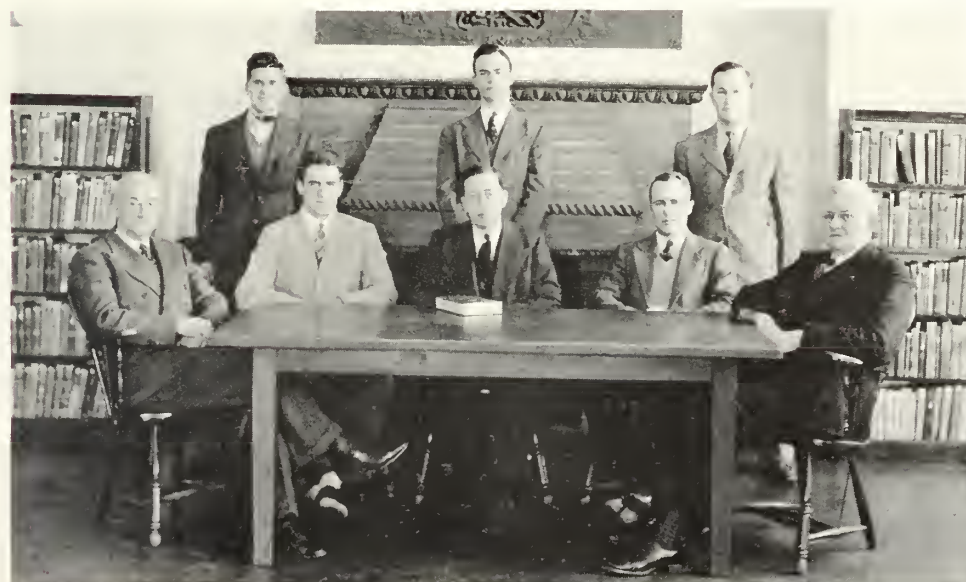

Second Row—Cox, Brock, and Mansfield.

Athletic Board

At present, the Athletic Board under chairman Dr. Fred Bratton is uncertain as to its administrative status. To date it has the powers to approve numeral and letter awards, budgets and schedules, but the members feel that a definition of its administrative powers will make the organization a more efficient one.

The Social Activities Board guides the activities of all campus organizations. Time and place of functions must be allotted so that plans of separate organizations will not conflict. Another function of the board is apportionment of funds according to need. Its chief aim is the development of a well-rounded social program.

First Row — Cox, Bally, Rutenber, Robertson, and Winans.

Second Row—Hicks, Pond, and Hoff.

Social Activities Board

Band

The band, under the direction of Berlie Thompson, with Maurice Burroughs as adviser, enjoyed its biggest year. Highlights of the season were the blood bank parade, the formations between the halves of the A.L.C. game and the concert at the Air Raid Police rally before 2500 people in the Municipal Auditorium.

First Row — Majorettes Nancy Clark and Shirley Linnehan.

Second Row — Director Thompson, Hayes, Schading, Meyers, Ballou, Henry, and Bray.

Third Row — Hunter, Andrews, Belton, Jackson, Penn, and Richards.

Fourth Row — Higgins, Malcomson, Melish, Christ, Brooks, Keator, and Bauer.

First Row — Adviser Burroughs and Director McEwen.

Second Row — Pollock, Burnham, Jackson, Sisco, Stone, Woodworth, and Bishop.

Third Row — Bray, Hawkes, Wilber, Schaefer, Kalbfleisch, and Ethridge.

Glee Club

Realizing this year as never before that "the song is the thing," the Glee Club, under the direction of Kenneth L. McEwen, has striven to meet the musical needs of the students. A newly-formed quartet and double quartet have been active both on and off-campus. Much credit is due Mr. Maurice Burroughs, campus music supervisor, and Mrs. Charles Silvia, accompanist for the club.

Varsity Club

Sponsoring inter-class athletics, promoting good sportsmanship and upholding the traditions of the school are only a few of the outstanding contributions of the Varsity Club. The club carries with it the prestige of a membership composed of varsity lettermen. Never to be forgotten are the "co-eds" with the bulging muscles and shapely curves seen on campus during initiation week.

First Row—Woll, Waters, Hoff, Burgess, Adviser Mansfield, Havel, Monesko, Church, and Booth.

Second Row—Moutinho, Brown, Amott, Christ, Sturges, Greenhalgh, Nelson, and Smyke.

Third Row—Spencer, Christman, Midgley, Thompson, Cox, Burfoot, McConchie, and Taavitsainen.

First Row—Lyon and Burroughs.

Second Row—Fenn, Tompkins, Bent, and Adviser Silvia.

Third Row—Perry, Timko, Wilber, Smyke, Fulton, Campbell, Druce, Boyd and Carver.

Fourth Row—Mevers, Gray, Runquist, Foster, Hawkes, Rofrano, Schading and Dayton.

Fifth Row—Murray, Schoof, Balise, Christ, Himebaugh, Elliott, and Pearson.

Aquatic Club

Carrying high their banner of service in the field of aquatics, the Aquatic Club started its years' activities with a highly successful water carnival. Participation in the aquatic forum at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and sponsoring of the 3rd Annual A.A.U. meet showed them to be fully aware of the needs of aquatics today.

First Row — Burford, Thompson, Lougee, Slaughter, Hawkes and Stetler.

Second Row—Brandt, Elliott, Bally, Van Arsdale, Andrews, Jones and Monesko.

Third Row — Davion, Rackliffe, Goodell, Huston, Shogren, Mutch, Nesdale and Alling.

Outing Club

The Outing Club, under the capable leadership of Walt Bally, is the most informal of our campus organizations and also one of the most active. During the past year, such events as barn dancing, hikes, canoe outings, bike trips, ski trips and skating parties made the club one of the most popular with the students. Don Richardson, Bob Burford and Larry Jones were the other officers.

The Springfield Thespians began the dramatic program for the school year in the June term with the presentation of two one-act plays. Plans for the winter term include the production of Maxwell Anderson's new play, "The Eve of St. Mark," as well as the annual commencement play. Again the club is indebted for the guidance of Chief Simpson.

Mrs. Sargeant, Keyes, Alling, Faubert, Church, Clark, McEwen, Congdon, and Adviser Simpson.

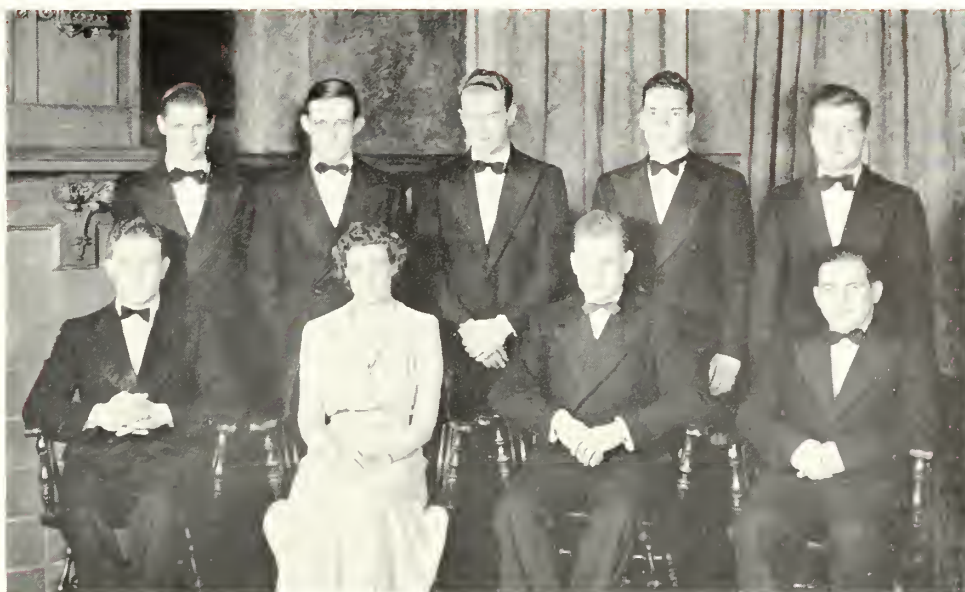

Dramatic Club

First Row—Christ, Mrs. Sargeant, Burfoot, and Sheehan.

Second Row—Lougee, Owens, Disque, Druce, and Chapman.

Junior Prom Committee

Can we buy favors? Will there be enough students left by February to support a prom? Travel restrictions may not allow guests to attend from any distance. Despite these uncertainties the committee went ahead with plans for the affair. It was tentatively decided to hold the prom February 19th at the Hotel Kimball.

This organization is primarily interested in keeping scouting alive on campus. Many members of this organization act as leaders of scout groups in the community. They sponsor jamborees in the city and bring their troops on campus to see our athletic events. The college directory is published by Alpha Phi Omega as a service project.

Sitting—Bortle Franklin, Dr. Brock, and Dr. Hall.
Standing — Robertson, Owens, Swart, Kalbfleisch, and Mawhiney.

Alpha Phi Omega

Student Christian Association

The purpose of the S.C.A. is to stimulate the religious element that is characteristic of most individuals and to search for ways in which its members can be of service to the college. Biweekly meetings consist of worship, discussion, recreation and refreshments. Monthly vesper services are sponsored by the organization to substitute for the chapel periods found in many colleges.

First Row—Balio, Kopp, and Ellison.

Second Row — Maynes, Bauer, Etheridge, Owens, Adviser Thompson, and Burfoot.

Third Row—Greenhalgh, Swanson, Stone, Blood, Wilber, Peabody, Timko, D. Smith, and Gray.

Fourth Row—Christ, Miller, Woodworth, Shogren, Kraft, Richards, Robinson, and Thompson.

Sitting — Greenhalgh, Druce, Adviser Weckwerth, Midgley, and Congdon.

Standing — Perry, Lyon, Burnham, Johnson, Litckka, Byrne, Miller, Etheridge, Swanson, Burton, Thau, Bray, T. Smith, and McConchie.

Maroon Key Society

The Maroon Key Society, the sophomore service organization on campus, cares for rival teams visiting the college. Members attend to reception on arrival, accommodations, tours of the campus, and personal requests. In addition, the club's social program included dances, sleigh rides and outings. Work of this organization goes far towards promoting good will between the college and its athletic rivals.

Springfield Dons

Led by Doug Bray and Bob Jackson, the Springfield Dons were successful in their seventh year of music making. The band was kept busy throughout a long season, highlighted by the return engagement on New Year's Eve at the Y.M.C.A. in Bridgeport, Conn., and by the many dances on campus. Ever popular in local circles, the Dons furnished music for a number of social affairs.

Although the 1942 Maroon gridsters scored more points than any Springfield eleven since 1935 and managed to break a losing streak which had extended from mid-October 1940 through thirteen games, the season as a whole was disappointing. With Coach Manny Mansfield's "T" formation, the team showed up well on the offensive, but lack of weight proved a handicap in the team's defensive efforts.

Norwich took the measure of the Maroons in the opener, 20-7; as did Amherst the following week 27-19. Then, in a great first-half display of power, Manny's boys smashed Northeastern 13-0 to record their only victory. During the rest of the season, the Maroons lost on consecutive Saturdays to New Hampshire 7-20, to Connecticut 14-21, to Rutgers 0-21, to A.I.C. 6-7, and to Manhattan Beach Coast Guard 13-14.

Despite its second successive loss to A.I.C. in the cross-town rivalry, the Springfield team salvaged some measure of success from the 1942 season by holding a highly favored Manhattan Beach Coast Guard to a one-point victory. Although outweighed by more than 25 pounds to the man, the Maroons clicked remarkably on both offense and defense.

Outstanding performers were Captain Bob Sturges, Clark, Taavitsainen, West, Oelkers and Carleton. At the end of the season, Captain Sturges and guard Al Coty were given honorable mention on the Little All-American team. A final measure of solace may be found in the fact that Amherst and New Hampshire went undefeated for the season.

The B squad also encountered difficulty in hitting the win column, the best efforts of the McCormick-Robertson charges being ties with Nichols and Conn. B and a loss to the Williams J.V.'s.

Soccer

For the second consecutive season, Coach John Brock's mighty Springfield pitchmen annexed a share in the New England Intercollegiate Soccer championship by finishing in a tie with Amherst for the league crown.

Taking up where they left off in 1941, the 1942 club, led by Irv Schmid, opened the season with a 3-2 triumph over Williams. Gaining momentum in their championship drive, the Ma-rooms then defeated Harvard 2-1, Dartmouth 2-0 and the University of Conn. 4-0. The victory string came to an abrupt halt as the Brockmen fought through two overtime periods to a 2-2 deadlock with likewise undefeated R.P.I. In the season's finale against M.I.T., the team once again returned to form to beat their opponents 3-0. A post-season contest saw collegians in a scoreless tie with an all-star aggregation representing the best professional soccer players in Western Mass.

Captain Schmid was the sparkplug of the team from his center-forward position. He was ably assisted by three of his classmates, wingmen Dick Havel and Busher Cooper, and fullback Stan Christman. Teamwork and mastery of the fundamentals were the most important factors in the success of the team. Jim Midgley, Nils Carlson, Lorry Jorgensen, Carmen Moutinho, and Mort Thau were outstanding in the play of the championship combine.

The junior varsity team was also an outstanding success, defeating Nichols Jr. College 6-0, U. of Conn. 3-0, MIT "B" 13-0, and Williston Academy 2-1 for a perfect season. This group was coached by Shorty Sheehan who was unable to play varsity soccer this year because of doctor's orders.

Back Row—Moutinho, Keen, Midgley, Paredes, Keyes, Belknap, Jorgensen, and Coach Brock.
Second Row—Marvin, Chapman, Owens, Carlson, Eaton, Potter, and Thau.
First Row—Townsend, Cooper, Captain Schmid, Wagner, Smith, and Molten.

Cross Country

Second Row—Taddonio, Woll, Hayes, Hugo, Halsted, and Stone.

Front Row—Aronson, Keeney, Anderson, Abraham, Novak and Congdon.

Climaxing an undefeated season with a smashing victory in the Connecticut Valley Championships and a second place in the New England Intercollegiate Championships, Coach Leslie J. Judd's 1942 group of harriers achieved the best record in Springfield cross country history.

Captained by Bill Booth and paced by freshman Tommy Crane, the powerful Maroon combine of Ambie Burfoot, Vern Cox, Bob Smith, Harold Snedecker and Ray Waters displayed some amazing teamwork in overwhelming Middlebury 18-37, Amherst 15-40, W.P.I., 15-46, Wesleyan 18-45, and Mass. State 15-50 to round out a perfect dual meet season.

Extending their string of brilliant performances, the Springfield harriers swept seven of the first eight places to annex their first Connecticut Valley Championship in a convincing fashion over teams representing Conn., Coast Guard, and Mass. State. Then, in a fitting and grand finale the Juddmen put on a driving finish to take second place in the New England Championship meet held at Franklin Park in Boston. Instrumental in bringing Springfield its best showing in the history of the event were seniors Booth and Waters who annexed 15th and 16th place respectively.

Capably following the example set by the varsity, the junior varsity squad, unofficially known as the Blue A.C., also enjoyed an undefeated season by rolling over Amherst B 15-40, Wesleyan B 15-50, and Mass. State B 16-43. Paced by Captain Charlie Anderson and Levi Hayes, the J.V.'s showed the same driving power and team cooperation that brought success to the varsity.

Varsity Basketball

First Row—Amott, Thompson, Cox, Burgess, Merrick, Kalbaugh, and Havel.
Second Row—Manager Burfoot, Richardson, Amsden, Murphy, Wilson, Hazen, Hayes, Barney and Coach Mansfield.

With a new head coach in the person of Wendell Mansfield and a long list of veteran hoopsters returning from the 1941-42 quintet which ranked third in New England, basketball prospects appeared bright when pre-season workouts began in November. The team seemed to have trouble getting started and dropped five of their first six games, but their opponents in these early games included some of the best teams in the East. In mid-January, however, the Maroons began to click and at this writing had won their last four games in succession.

Returning from last year's squad were Capt. Bob Burgess, Dick Havel, and Bob Amott, the only seniors on the squad. Important factors in the success of the team were Juniors Ross Merrick, Vern Cox, Bob Thompson, Floyd Barney, and Bill Kalbaugh. Sophomores Floyd Wilson, Bob Hazen, and Levi Hayes, and freshmen Frank Murphy and George Amsden rounded out this smooth-working group of hoopsters.

Highlighting the season were games with Dartmouth and Long Island University, and the traditional battles with A.I.C., and Providence.

The Junior Varsity team, coached by Bob Berry, was largely composed of freshmen, although there were a few upperclassmen on the roster. Like the varsity, the J.V.'s started slowly but gave promise of future success.

First Row—Congdon, Smith, Robinson, Nelson, Lennek, Young, and Tremblay.
Second Row—Coach Berry, Tamborini, Belton, Taddonio, Selden, Friere, Dunn, Wagner, and Manager Mawhinney.

Junior Varsity Basketball

First Row—Potter, Judd, Woll, Schading, Van Arsdale, Taylor, Snedecker, and Stevens.

Second Row — Koizumi, Bauer, Maynes, Lineberger, Adams, Melick, Cole, and Buckley.

Third Row — Manager Burton, Hugo, Goodwin, Mulvaney, Lougee, Harper, Fenn, Hemenway, Perry, Woodworth, Athanasian, Keen, and Coach Kodis.

Wrestling Team

Losses of Coach Pennock by illness and several outstanding performers through military priorities, leave the Maroon matmen facing a grueling schedule with Captain Lineberger, Cole, and Buckley the only returning veterans. Coach Vic Kodis is prepping such men as Hemenway, Fenn, Lougee, Van Arsdale, Maynes, and Stevens to fill varsity positions.

Although the extensive travel of past seasons is now impossible, Coach Leslie Judd's gymnasts have a heavy schedule of exhibitions in nearby communities and military camps. Outstanding performers include Captain Irv Schmid, Starrett, Jones, Rippon, Spencer, Welch, Zimmerman, Etheridge, and Smith. Ed Keyes was manager-announcer.

First Row — Manager Keyes, Welch, Druce, Krauskopf, Brockway, Burford, and Coach Judd.

Second Row — Jones, Schmid, Starrett, and Spencer.

Third Row—Zimmerman, Rippon, and Etheridge.

Fourth Row — Stetler, Manager Hurzeler, and Smith.

Gymnastic Team

First Row — Murray, Gray, Smyke, Meyers, Garcia, and Bent.

Second Row — Milan, Foster, Balise, Fulton, Wilbur, Rofrano, and Boyd.

Third Row — Manager West, Dayton, Christ, Church, Rundquist, and Coach Silvia.

Fourth Row — Conyne, Hawkes, Lyon, Hendee, Carver, and Kahn.

Swimming

Facing the usual difficult schedule with only six returning lettermen, Captain Ed Smyke '41-'42 N.E. diving champion, Church, Rundquist, Dockham, Burroughs, and Christ, Coach Silvia has utilized many underclassmen in molding his '43 combination. Outstanding are Conyne, Gray, Milan, Meyers, and Rofrano. The mermen were edged by Brown in an early season meet.

A Song for Springfield

*Now raise a song for Springfield, let hearts and voices blend,
To celebrate her praises whose fame shall have no end;
While fellowship makes holy, while eager hope elates,
And visioned men come thronging her spacious gates.*

*May victory descending e'er keep her banners bright,
And dye with new effulgence our rare maroon and white;
Bring fairness with the winging, and energy to dare,
Together shall ye guardian her field so fair.*

*Earth-wide may happy boyhood lift high his wond'ring eyes,
Strong youth bring back the vision of earthly paradise;
To follow truth to wisdom, nor faint thro' falt'ring fears,
Be this thy task, O Springfield, thro' all the years.*
